The Dance of Diwali

- by Kavi Shree K CL. VI

In the velvet night, the stars awake,
A thousand lamps their places take.
Golden glimmers, soft and bright,
Whisper joy through the heart of night.

Homes adorned with colours bold,
Stories of Rama once retold.
Sweet aromas fill the air,
Of laddoos, love, and festive care.

Crackers bloom like flowers of flame,
Each spark a song, each light a name-
Of hope reborn, of shadows gone,
Of peace that dawns with every morn.

Children laugh, their eyes alight,
Mothers pray by candlelight.
The diyas wink, the rangolis gleam,
As hearts unite in one bright dream.

For Diwali is not just fire and show,
It's the triumph of light where darkness glows.
A promise whispered, soft yet strong-
That good shall reign, and love belong.

Children's Day

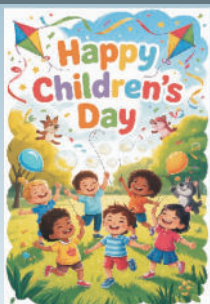

- by Joshwin Sri K CL. V

Children's Day is one of the happiest and most awaited days for us students, all over India. It is celebrated every year on November 14th, the birthday of Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru, who was the first Prime Minister of our country. He had a great love for children and believed that they are the true strength and future of a nation. Children fondly called him "Chacha Nehru."

Pandit Nehru once said that "The children of today will make the India of tomorrow." He always worked for their education, health, and welfare. To honor his affection and vision, the Nation celebrates his birthday as Children's Day.

On this day, schools across India come alive with joy and laughter. Special assemblies, cultural programs, songs, dances, and games are organized. Teachers often perform skits or songs for their students, and prizes or sweets are distributed. The whole day becomes a festival of fun and happiness for children.

But Children's Day is not just about celebrations; it carries an important message too. It reminds everyone that every child deserves love, care, and a chance to grow in a safe environment. It also teaches us to respect children's rights and to nurture them with patience and kindness.

Children bring smiles, innocence, and hope into our world. They are like blooming flowers who need sunlight, care, and guidance to grow beautifully. Let us promise to make every child feel special and loved not only on Children's Day, but on every single day.

Children truly make the world brighter and better!

Diwali

- by Jowin Raj K CL. V

Diwali, also known as Deepavali, is one of the most important and joyful festivals celebrated in India. It is called the Festival of Lights because people light oil lamps called diyas and decorate their homes with candles and colorful rangolis. The festival usually comes in the month of October or November.

Diwali marks the return of Lord Rama to Ayodhya after fourteen years of exile and his victory over the demon king Ravana. People welcomed him by lighting rows of lamps, and since then, the tradition continues. On this day, people worship Goddess Lakshmi, the goddess of wealth, and Lord Ganesha, the remover of obstacles.

Families clean and decorate their houses, wear new clothes, and share sweets and gifts with relatives and friends. Children enjoy bursting crackers and watching fireworks light up the night sky.

Diwali is not just about lights and fun, it also teaches us an important lesson that good always triumphs over evil and that light can remove darkness. It brings happiness, love, and unity among people.

I love celebrating Diwali because it fills our hearts and homes with brightness, hope, and joy.

The World Belongs to Children

- by Aryan Swaid N, CL. VIII

Laughter rings in every lane,
Tiny feet dance in the rain,
Dreams take flight like butterflies,
Painting colours in the skies.

Every giggle, every cheer,
Makes the dull world bright and clear,
Eyes so wide with sparkling gleam,
Hold the power to chase a dream.

Books become their magic doors,
Imagination freely soars,
Castles built with blocks and sand,
Rule the kingdom of their land.

Teachers guide and parents care,
Love and kindness fills the air,
For every child, so pure and true,
Holds a world both old and new.

So let them play, let them sing,
Let their joy make the heavens ring,
For children's hearts, so bright,
Are stars that light our Children's Day!

The Path To Success

- by Pranitha.B, CL. IX

Success is forged in silent strife,
In sleepless nights and tireless life.

It's not the cheers or shining gold,
But dreams pursued with spirit bold.

Its rising up when hope feels gone,
And finding strength to still push on.

A steady heart, a fearless soul,
That's the climb that makes you whole.

Life Of A Pencil

- by Ritesh M S, CL. VI

Once upon a time, an old pencil maker put his newest pencil aside just before he was about to pack them into a box.
Imagining the newest pencil as a person, he recalled a few things about the pencil.

There are six things you need to know, he said to his newest pencil. Before I send you out into the world, always remember these five things. Never forget them and you will become the best pencil you can be.

 The first thing is that you will be able to do many great things, but only if you put yourself in someone's hand.

 You will experience a painful sharpening but remember that this will make you a better pencil.

 You will be able to correct any mistakes you might make along the way.

 The most important of you is what's inside you.

 Upon every surface that you use, you must leave your mark, no matter what else happens you must continue to write.

 You see in life, in your life, put yourself in someone else's hands, Embrace challenges for growth. Learn from mistakes, value inner quantities, and leave a positive mark on the world.

The Value Of Time

- by Prisha.P, CL. VI

Once upon a time, there was a young boy named Sam who loved to play all day and avoided his chores.

One day, he met an old man who was busy planting seeds in his garden.

Curious, Sam asked, "Why are you working so hard?"
The old man smiled and said. "Time is like a river; it flows away and never returns. Every moment you waste is like a seed that will never grow."

Sam thought about it and realized he had been wasting his precious time. He decided to make each day count, balancing his fun with his precious responsibilities. Years later, Sam became successful and happy, always grateful for the lesson.

He understood that time, once lost, could never be regained, and that each moment was a gift to be cherished.

Team Work

- by Faiyaz Ahamed L.H CL. VI

It's all very well to have courage and skill,
And it's fine to be counted a star,
But the single deed with its touch of thrill,
Doesn't tell the man you are;

For there's no lone hand in the game we play,
We must work towards a better scheme,
And the thing that counts in the world today
Is, how do you pull with the team?

They may sound your praise and call you great,
They may single you out for fame,
But you must work with your running mate,
Or you'll never win the game;

Oh, never the work of life is done,
By the man with a selfish dream,
For the battle is lost or the battle is won,
By the spirit of the team.

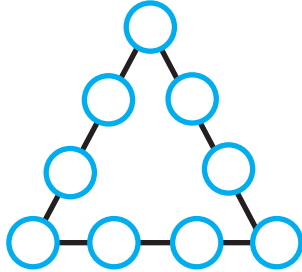

You may think it fine to be praised for skill,
But a greater thing to do.
Is to set your mind and set your will,
On the goal that's just in view;

It's helping your fellow man to score,
When his chances hopeless seem;
It's forgetting self-till the game is over
And fighting for the team.
